

Eternal Timeframes

Time has stopped in this empty, forsaken area and it has been a main factor that influenced this old village. Existing buildings are living witnesses of the history, reflections of the passing time.

Important events from recent history have been chosen to be etched into our memory through selective preservation of the Pyramiden village. Buildings are brought to a condition from a specific moment in time, corresponding to memorable events from the history of our civilisation. Some of them being reconstructed to match the past, other left for future generations to freeze them in the next exciting moment of our history.
