

dwelling books

“...

Forest spread
Brooks plunge
Rocks persist
Mist difuses

Meadows wait
Springs well
Winds dwell
Blessings muses.”

Poetry, Language, Thought
Martin Heidegger

site plan

crossroads

rice field like layers

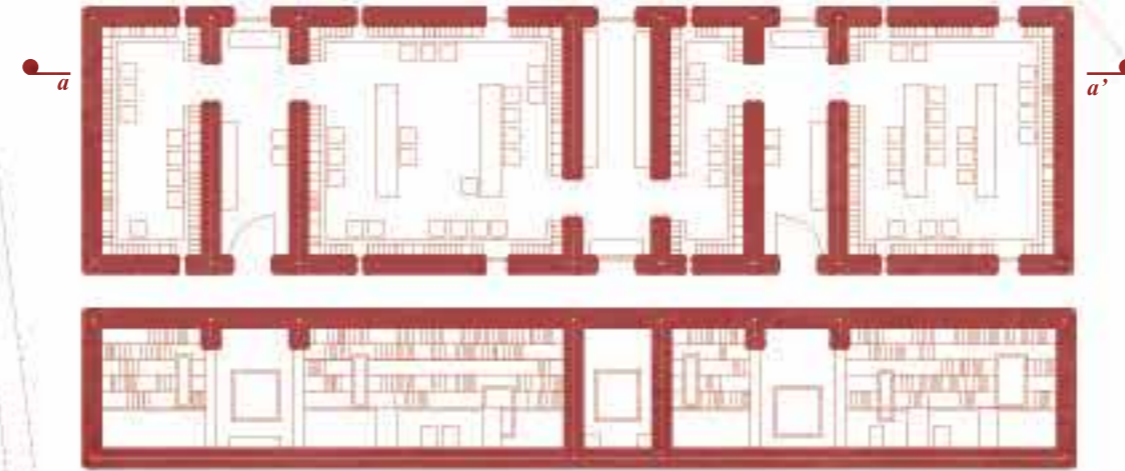

weaving functions,
library and eating rooms

The canteen and library fuse together into a neighed space...
Cores that tickle the imagination of children in between endless rows of different lifes found on the pages of books.
Universes that vibrate when the stillness of books on shelves counteract the movement of the wall and the movement in the core...

rice fields like layers
the wall
the books

the rooms where magic happens ground floor plan

section aa'

section bb'

hypostasis of the core

