THE SPIRITS OF YOUR HOMELANDS ARE THE SPIRITS OF YOUR WORLD

This project is a remembrance of one ancient legend.

There is a bamboo forest in a distant region of China. It is so old that it remembers dragons flying over it. When the strong winds are coming down from the mountains and rushes through the trunks of the bamboo, it sounds like a lovely song.

People named it as the Forest of the Singing Bamboo. Its winding and devious paths may easily trick anyone. But don't be afraid to get lost. There won't be hunger and thirst in the Bamboo palace. Silver streams spread their song for miles around and everything that you may imagine is growing in the fertile lands. Small villages are hiding in the depths of the ancient forest. Families live happily and carefree children play in the shade of the stems.

This forest is a place of happiness and joy for lot of people. It is filled with the peace, the music and the light.

This treasure is well hidden from prying eyes but the legend says that whoever finds it will bring real happiness for all over the world.
